Course Description:

Marketing is a very dynamic subject where decision making is at the centre of the marketing process. One of the most prominent trends in recent years has been the globalisation of markets for goods and services. This course will enable students to gain analytical skills essential in creating international marketing plans and develop the marketing mix elements in an international environment. International marketing is an important subject in the marketing discipline and builds on the concepts learnt in marketing management into the international market. The conceptual material taught throughout this course will be further developed through class activities, case studies and a final project. This unit will be looking into the various factors that influence marketing strategies in an international setting. Topics cover international economic environments; social and cultural aspects of market environments; legal and political environments; distribution channels; market entry methods; pricing and promotional strategies, and how to complete a comprehensive international marketing plan.

Academic Integrity

Students are expected to uphold the university's academic honesty principles which are an integral part of the university's core values and principles. If a student fails to observe the acceptable standards of academic honesty, they could attract penalties and even disqualification from the course in more serious circumstances. Students are responsible for knowing and observing accepted principles of research, writing and any other task which they are required to complete.

Academic dishonesty or cheating includes acts of plagiarism, misrepresentation, fabrication, failure to reference materials used properly and forgery. These may include, but are not limited to: claiming the work of others as your own, deliberately applying false and inaccurate information, copying the work of others in part or whole, allowing others in the course to copy your work in part or whole, failing to appropriately acknowledge the work of other scholars/authors through acceptable referencing standards, purchasing papers or writing papers for other students and submitting the same paper twice for the same subject.

This Academic Integrity policy applies to all students of the Zhejiang University in all programmes of study, including non-graduating students. It is to reinforce the University's commitment to maintain integrity and honesty in all academic activities of the University community.

Policy

- The foundation of good academic work is honesty. Maintaining academic integrity upholds the standards of the University.
- The responsibility for maintaining integrity in all the activities of the academic community lies with the students as well as the faculty and the University. Everyone in this community must work together to ensure that the values of truth, trust and justice are upheld.
- Academic dishonesty affects the University's reputation and devalues the degrees offered.
- The University will impose serious penalties on students who are found to have violated this Policy. The following penalties may be imposed:
 - Expulsion;

- Suspension;
- Zero mark/fail grade;
- Marking down;
- Re-doing/re-submitting of assignments or reports; and
- Verbal or written warning.
